

She seems genuine, and sewing is her hobby.

This day past quickly it seems the longer you're here the shorter the days get. The day speeds by but the nights drag filled with TV and radio. I tried to make the two rock shows on TV but just couldn't stay awake.

Feb 3 - My parents have been working on getting my poetry back from UWM, but no luck so far, but I'm not out to put them together yet either, status of works yesterday and probably today too. It's another gray day, but no telling yet how heavy a cover the cluds will produce.

I started a poinsetta plant yesterday, but I have to follow it carefully, and see if this little experiment of mine works. I took an offshoot that looked flower producing and stuck it in water, so something might come from it.

It is a fine partly cloudy day today with a lot of sun today and Barney might finally make it out here.

I got another free card class (sheepshead) and seem to be picking it up. Eva (champ card player) although a good teacher had only 2 or 3 ocassions to get upset by my play, indicating progress. Played 500 rummy last night and at that I am not progressing at all. I suspect visitors.
