

I went with a girl to the museum, but I started to cough from something in there, and so we split out of there and then went to Big Boy's and sat around talking some. We kiss when we part in high spirits. We will be going out again, she has her dad's birthday party to go to today. She is so nice and nice to be with.

Tonight may be a drag but I am optimistic that some old anything could develop out of it.

Try that soul

You get your pass from reality and learn
yourself, you start
out feeble and naked
thinking low and mean about that self you've been carrying around all those years
and say yes to the spirit

it flys from you
like a peace bound
dove

Lightning on and in the people you meet greeting you like a new born god-child

we'll all feel your mind and make love
to it's beauty, we'll
