

that a lot because it is the truth, but still nothing much is new to write about.

I had a good time jostling around with R but he realizes my speed fighting potential so me and him made buddies, least I got her address (y'know, hard like, "her"). So any how that's always good for a laugh, the attendant don't dig it though.

I got invited to an aquiantances house for dinner and I hope I can get a date, but I have something to do at least. With my new schedule I hope I don't lose some of my teachers that I got because I like them all, that is also up in the air.
