

Next week I'm starting my third book, or chapter about outpatient care. Should find me in a better mood I hope. After breakfast again is a drag all sorts of time and not a thing to do.

Talk

Animosity of human contact be gone from the conversational partners Sit down and talk like old childhood friends simplistic Find mirth in your lack of helping each other out of problems Chew the old weathered rag back and forth
taste the sweetness
of easy friendship

I blew up a photo today with rather good results, excepting I got fixer or developer on the negative, but the majority of the picture looked real nice. It is a much simpler process than you'd expect and I feel I understand most of the process fairly well.

Music therapy was pointless: about Nilso's 'Point' album. A lot was discussed and I got a shoestring on which I can tie knots whenever I do something nice and make someone
