

I saw my old boss and will start working next week on weekends only, you know I'll be looking for jobs in the meantime.

Caught a nap this afternoon, and went to the pool hall for a little while. My brother and I went to some night clubs and heard some rock.

Finally saw a movie called "Tension" which I really enjoyed on the midnight movies.

Feb 25 - Two dreams in a row. Last night I dreamy I was a novice mobster. They all met in the boiler room of city hall and ran the vices of the city. Being only a novice I got a mimeo sheet of the outcomes of sports events for the future. I had $500.00.wk to start just to bet it all and become rich. I contacted some friends and sold them outcomes for a good price. When ever regular mob customers need a result they'd phone me. My ma then woke me up , but I had it made.

Now it's not going to be so easy in the real world (realization again) but what a dream!

It's snowing like hell again and the front page had a feature "Winter Where is Thy Sting?", and I had a good laugh as there must be a good 2-3 inches already. I made omelets for the family, my speciality, and also ran the snowblower.

We had a fine dinner in the afternoon at Captain's, had A really fine fillet. When I got home I fell asleep for a couple of hours on the sofa.

It was everything a Sunday should be, restful and relaxing, I didn't do a damn thing and I loved it.