

is too comforting a vision to fall into and when I'm eighty and read this I'll say I'm still too young

Mar 14 - It's the second fine day of work and I feel wrung out and good all over from the exertion. I missed a record hot day today it was 68 degrees on the 14th of March quite pleasantly unseasonable, but for $ I missed all that fine biking. It's so sweet when it's early in the Springseason.

Mar 15 - Work went fine, we bolted the skin on a big asphalt tank, took all day and I felt like I really accomplished something. I am so spaced out at work I can't believe it. I function correctly and all but things, I shouldn't say this, look like before my breakdown. I think it's because of the physical existence I am living under now, It's quite refreshing actually.

Mar 16 - Got my first check since I'm out of emotion city.
A whole 23 dollars, big deal, what can one do with such a measly sum, get by as well as possible.

So be a Queen playing on a dizzying celestial stage whirls of people spinning you it only lasts so long and feels so strong and sweet to be a
