

Surabaya is a huge polluted mess and the jungle area which seems to be residential had one was much less polluted. You couldn't see the air at least. The guys were looking for bargains and the hottest commodity was bootleg tapes which were only two dollars a piece. The quality was even listenable. Apparently the populace went on real benders on some drug or another, I saw one young man stagger in a way I have never seen before. Me and one Marine who liked to take in the area got off the strip to see how the natives lived. Within two blocks we had gathered no less than fifty of the neighborhoods children who found us to be most amusing. I imagine we could have been elected kings there if we had stopped walking. The Javanese love us and all over the area 1945 monuments have been planted in front of the homes in honor of our freeing these people from the Japanese.

Back on the main drag we wandered into another whore house and I found the most beautiful girl of the trip. She was unusually tall and shapely and expensive. Not expensive by our standards. I couldn't help but take her. It was a revelation to watch her undress and find a faultless beauty, that could easily cut the muster for our television health and beauty aid commercials. Her skin was quite fair and facial feature still young. Her breasts were fascinating. Unmarked round and firm and dense, with what appeared to be small nipples. I was truly aroused just watching her undress and listening to her talk. This was the most attractive flesh the monster I was on this trip had been served yet.

I could have been happy watching her for this hour. Professional that she was she admired and looked over my filling penis, and cooed some. As usual she mounted and worked out helicopter fashion after a medium difficultly insertion. Her moves were skilled but the cheap whisky had a blocking effect on blocking the climax stages of the act. She removed herself so gracefully from her post after awhile it was good for another inch of pride. We rested and I enjoyed feeling her and explored her nipples which were unusual and maybe a local genetic feature. I placed my mouth on her nipples and sucked them some and found they were infolded and when broke from the folded position were over an inch long. What a surprise, as I have yet to find this sort on any woman. Where most womens nipples stayed exposed and erect to one degree or another hers folded back into her breast. I decided to mount her as I thought I would be able to come twice in our hour together. I rode her like I never had worked before as the stimulation kept me thinking I would start peaking but I did not for over a half an hour. I finally decided to let her try again to no avail, and I consciously had to put the thought in my mind to get the load off and with my penis still inserted managed to roll her backwards and started at it. I called on full concentration to come and by the time I had it heated to the correct temperature noticed I had been pounding her head gently into the wall opposite the headboard. I finally found I could come by watching my penis move in and out while up on my hands. Her pubic hair was only as wide as my swollen visible shaft and watching this somehow released me. With a few minutes left I watched her laid out across the bed and asked her for some more stimulation, but it was futile she refused to respond which I supposed balanced out the service she had delivered. I got five inches hard and mounted her but she acted like a ragdoll. I set about watching my self hump her in a mirror and felt futile in a way as she would not act anymore. I was up to six or seven inches on the second attempt and could tell it would be some while before I would get off again and decided to remember the splendid time we had. We relaxed a time and went into the shower and I feasted my eyes on her for the last time in the slash of daylight from the over the wall just over my head.

We stopped in Australia after we left Java, our visit climinated in a day or two of maneuvering with our hosts who had a wicked new ship, a frigate well armed, for use to practice with. Whovere put that frigate together for the Indonesian knew what they were doing as it was the most armed ship I had seen or can recall.
