

Einstein was another Viking and His trading mission only remains
Unfulfilled, of course Columbus
Immediately comes to mind, but His dream nowadays is dried on the vine, the New World dog on the relocated Mesopotamian leash, don't you know?

Was Albert a p.r. campaign, a Mere clearing house of a dumb neo-Vikingship? Was the new lance Possibly forseen by the new boil?
They learned that Viking lesson
Once you kno, and set scenery
For seemingly new invasions for
The time being in between. It
Popped jackpot style on the scene
Quick enough at a horrid time,
A righteous indiginous wellspringing.
No, I'm afraid not, all this fear
Has been planned.
