

The atom model supplanted all our Concerns, something about the stable
Energy underlying reductio ad absurdum;
The inevitable cosmological pantheon
Seemed good. A whole system of Valued chimeras and life itself so
Indebted as to be only one of a
Subjective matrix affixed to the Possible infinity of the most unlikely
Constructs.

And it followed that
We must question
That we must always question -
We have only questioned
These chimeras;
Until these senses weary of
These bodies and weary of these
Objects, weary of the new creations
Presented to these senses; and
Awake in all of us in a day that
That is a dream.

The first day of the world's Dreaming was not questioned, it
Passed as do dreams and days
Into past, a thing debatable
And never analysed; and we still