

Memo from the Thought Directorate

We hereby reposses your voice and mind
For the crime of using your reason
And send you on the search for real self,
Ten feet of library on edge is the sentence.
Abhorred thinking, the second count, requires
The sentence of expertise; We hereby reposses
You beliefs and truths. We sentence you to Master the facts in your domain as you are Too small to apply any dogma to the Manifold, creativity is the reign of institution.
This is the only dogma you need to learn.
Your field is a limit and you may Speak only in your expertise, but speak in
The full apparent licentiousness your domain
Will lead too, the reign of institution will manage.
As means of furthering your existence in
This reign of institution you are sentenced
To pick from the titles of the manifold
A life's work the size of human comprehension
We have established through careful
Expert analysis, but first we will